Dear Students,

The conception of a school as a laboratory, devoted to the testing and verification of theoretical statements and principles, may be traced to John Dewey, who urged the establishment of a laboratory school at the University of Chicago. In 1896, Professor Dewey said:

> ...if there is a science of education it is an experimental science, not a purely deductive one. All well-ordered experiment presupposes two things: a working hypothesis, an idea to be put to the test, and adequate facilities for making the test. There must be a continual union of theory and practice of reaction of one into the other. The leading idea must direct and clarify the work; the work must serve to criticize, to modify, to build up the theory.

As the experimental secondary school of the University of Illinois, University High School seeks to serve such an experimental function. As public understanding of the importance of education has grown, the need for careful experimentation has increased. There is a growing appreciation of the role of the laboratory school in providing facilities for some of the curriculum projects which have had significant effects upon practice in the schools of the United States.

We hope that our work in University High School will contribute to the union of theory and practice.

The controlling principle of the ENGLISH project is the concept that English is a unified and unifying subject. The thesis of the program is that much of the meaning derived from an essay, poem, play, or novel is a response to recognizable structrual elements. A study of English from such a point of view identifies language, literature, composition, and speech as manifestations of a fundamental relation between form and meaning or between structure and response. By concentrating on that relationship, we hope to make students sensitive to the ways in which writers and speakers achieve the responses which readers and listeners make.

Independent study has been emphasized this year at the fourth year level in both French and German. In this program, classes do not meet every day of the week. Instead, students work on their own, preparing for the days when classes meet. In this way each student can progress at his own pace and concentrate on the particular things in which he is weakest.

A new project was undertaken in the Math Department this year. One class of sub-freshmen learned from a programmed text using U. I. C. S. M. materials. All other classes continued to use U. I. C. S. M. experimental materials. Calculus was taught at the senior level. Future plans for the Math Department include the revision of texts and the development of a curriculum for Grades 7 and 8.

This year University High School is one of fifty schools working on an evaluation of the Chemical Bond Approach Project, a new method of presenting and teaching chemistry. The physics class was introduced to the Physical Science Study Committee text, an experimental project developed in the last five years. Future possibilities in experimentation include a unified approach to science, similar to the U.I.C.S.M. program, and the offering of summer courses in science.

In biology this year more emphasis has been placed on independent study and the development of an interest in research. Individual projects and experimentation have been encouraged, rather than a page by page study of the text.

Class History

In the twen-ty-fifth year of the Sub-fresh-man class, We in-vad-ed the school fif-ty en masse. In May off to Spring-field to vis-it the tomb, Then off to New Sa-lem for all af-ter-noon.

Music by Ewan MacColl and Peggy Seeger ("Ballad of Springhill")
(c) 1960 by Stormking Music Inc. --Used by permission

1958-59

As freshmen we learned

From Miss Ettla to speak

And with Mr. Martin

Played "Caesar" all week.

On Fridays in gym

We had social dance;

Alack and alas,

We made no advance.

1959-60

The Kaeser room parties

Were abundant that annum;

As socialite sophomores,

We hit the bottom.

Mr. Grissom inspired us,

Unknown to him,

To write ponderous poetry,

Morbid and grim.

1960-61

All on a fall's night

To a farm yard we went

Where a rousing good time

At a hayride was spent.

School spirit was high

As we juniors proved

By buying THREE sweatshirts;

Student Council was moved.

1961-62

Holiday in Venice

Was our project this fall;

The work was hard,

But we all had a ball.

Through five years of toil

We've reached our goal.

Now that we're scholars

We're leaving this hole!

Class Will

The Class of 1962 leaves the following advice:

To the subs--"Crabbed age and youth cannot live together."---Shakespeare.

To the freshmen--"Submit to the present evil, lest a greater one befall you."--Phaedrus.

To the sophomores--"Where ignorance is bliss T'is folly to be wide."--Thomas Gray.

To the juniors--"It is better, of course, to know useless things than to know nothing,"--Seneca.

AMY ALPERT leaves her after-ski boots to Doug Brown.

CHRISTINE ANDERSON leaves her blond tresses to Joan of Arc.

FRED AUSUBEL leaves hoping that Mr. Snyder will find someone else to argue with.

DAVE BAKER leaves his sprained ankels, shin splints, and broken glasses to the P.E. Department.

BETSY BARDEEN leaves to face the world on her own bare feet.

ROBIN BURNETT and JOHN STOLUROW leave their quaint and curious costumes to the Precocious Pretentious Problem Pipers.

BOB BURT leaves his grin to the big bad wolf.

KIM DAMMERS leaves his intellectualism to the man in the street.

GEORGE DAY leaves his stimulating conversation to Emily Levin.

FRANCOIS DESCHAMPS leaves his phases to the moon.

BOB DICKEY leaves his curse on University High.

CHARLIE DOBBINS leaves his battered spoons to the Dairy Queen.

ALLAN ECKEL leaves an incandescent light burning.

MIKE EVANS leaves his knee to a camel.

APRIL FLETCHER leaver her liberal ideas to Robin Whitney.

KAREN FRERICHS leaves her mark on the halls of University High.

ROGER GARRET leaves a void.

JAY GOLDSTEIN leaves laughing all the way, ha, ha, ha.

TOBY GOODMAN leaves his sore ribs, compliments of Dennis, to the tenor section of Madrigals.

KITTY GORE leaves her hair pins to Steve Keyes.

As juniors we tasted school leadership and we liked it. "Holiday in Venice," plays, dances, and Student Council committees absorbed "those enthusiastic juniors." Their leadership and hard work made these activities successful and indicated that the next year's responsibilities would be in talented hands. This year turned out an assortment of drivers, most of whom succeeded in getting permits. And history! Our beloved time! A seven-months research paper. Out of bondage at 9:00 A.M., March 16! Then there was the Prom. What a delightful way to end the school year--and planned by the juniors.

Our SOPHOMORE year has been a long, hard one. This was the year we wrote our first term papers and innumerable five-hundred to eight-hundred word papers for French, Latin, English, and biology.

The sophomore year had its bright side, too. We went on our first dates. We converted our class meetings from a forty-minute bull session to a calm, quiet, and organized discussion. As a result, we had several riotous parties and gave a great and exciting (?) Spring Fling. Everyone in our class went to the basketball games and all-school parties, and we gained the reputation of being - if nothing else - loud and enthusiastic.

Yes, this year has had both its good and bad moments, and it won't be a year we will soon forget.

FRESHMEN year--it was such fun,

Though the books we took home weighed a ton,

All those moments, good and bad,

Those science tests that made us sad,

That feeling of maturity

Which grew within us for all to see.

Those quite important notes to pass,

That party we had for the class (!)

The foreign words we tried to repeat,

The English Theme we didn't complete.

Can you believe it's all gone by?

And now we can but

Look back and

Sigh.

We entered the old, battle-scarred building which is called University High School and started our first year here.

It was a hard year, but everybody got along all right (we hope). Our first chore was to elect class officers. Then we had our first class meeting and started planning our first class party.

Remember the things like history reports, English themes, the pile of homework we had in math, and the seniors saying "Pick it up, sub"? Think of the future when you will be able to say "Pick it up, sub!" All in all, it's been a great year.

In case you haven't already noticed, this year's U'n I is different! In an effort to portray the experimental nature of University High School, the yearbook staff has pooled its resources to come up with a unique yearbook for the pleasure of its readers.

The typing room fell to the onslaught of eager staff members as they congregated after school and on Saturdays, racing to beat headlines. As a result of spending long hours choosing the right pictures and the right words, we finally put together the 1962 edition of U'n I.

"Man's World Is A Pinball Machine Where Bumpers Are Simply The Places For His Experience."

Carolyn House, Student Director and Mr. Robinson, Director.

With this idea in mind, Uni's drama director, Beecham Robinson, wrote "The Grade Machine." The play concerned the appalling emphasis Mr. Robinson felt students and faculty place on grades. George, a second semester senior who turns out A's in the manner of a machine, finally breaks under the pressure to continue his grade average. The play was a unique experience in drama for Uni High theater.

The "H.M.S. Pinafore" provided two unforgettable evenings of fun and entertainment for University High. Several performances stood out particularly: who can forget Dennis Murphy as the romantic lead and Karen Hinshaw and Buttercup? Ruperto Mendiones and Dave Baker shared the part of the villain, Dick Deadeye, to the credit of both of them. During the Christmas Holiday, the cast and chorus met for Operetta re-hash, which was at least as much fun as the actual performance. Dennis Murphy coming onstage in rollerskates, the entire cast covered with shaving cream and snowballs, Bob Dickey's lovely knees in his nightshirt, Dave Trebilcock's annual weather report--all these will be treasured and laughed about again and again.

This year the cheerleaders were chosen in the spring. This enabled them to work on their cheers over the summer.

They sponsored rides to out-of-town games at the cost of $1.00 per person. This service was appreciated by many who otherwise could not have attended these games.

The enthusiasm and support they have shown, plus their skill in leading cheers, has added quite a bit to Uni's athletic events this year.

The cross-country team took up where it left off last year and extended Uni's win streak to eleven meets. The only blemish on this year's record was a 28-28 tie with Ogden in the fifth meet. Dave Baker was undefeated individually in six meets and placed fifth in the district to qualify for the state meet. The harriers' best meet was a 15-47 decision over Cerro Gordo.

At the season's end, Dave Baker was chosen Most Valuable Player and Dave Jordan was chosen captain-elect to succeed Kim Dammers.

The Buckeyes got off to a good start this year, compiling a 4-4 win-loss record before the Christmas holidays. Unfortunately, however, they were able to win only one more game during the rest of the season, a come-from-behind squeaker over Fisher. Junior captain Doug Brown set three new scoring records for Uni. They were: 38 points in one game, 446 points for the season, and a points per game average of 21.2. Brown was selected MVP and next year's captain.

Coach Carlier varied the starting five throughout the season so that at one time or another, every boy on the team was a starter. This was a building year for University with six juniors and one sophomore earning letters.

The J.V.'s coached by Fred Dennen showed great improvement over the year. The team consisted mostly of freshmen and juniors, which speaks well for University's future in basketball. Although they won only three games, they were showing a great deal of finesse toward the end of the season.

Uni's 1961 track team enjoyed its best season in many years, winning four regular meets and taking second in two triangulars. Twelve records were either broken or tied in the course of the cindermen's exploits. Depth was a major factor in this team and resulted in great strength in the relays and middle distances. The mile relay team was undefeated in regular meets and copped second at the Potomac Relays.

At the end of the season Coach Carlier distributed 18 major letters among the squad members. Senior John Downs was selected MVP on the basis of his 68 1/2 points compiled in eight meets. John set school records in the 220 and 440 and turned out a good 880 man, taking second in that event at Potomac and third in the County. Captain for 1962 is Bob Jordan, a sprinter who compiled 62 3/4 points in the '61 season.

Julie -

Just think - a whole page to write on. It's really been swell having you as a fellow sub girl in my class. Have fun this summer, and when you come back in a year from your trip in India, be sure to report to Mr. Morgan. I'll really miss you and the rest.

Love to you and all!

Bug as Hi!

Kay

Good luck to a real cute girl! Keep practicing your cheerleading and you'll be terrific.

Susa D.

You're a good guy - hope I see ya next year.

Dear Julie,
Lots of luck
in the years to come.
Carol

Julie, I think you're one of the nicest girls in the sub-class and cute too. Best of luck next year.

Lynne.

Julie,

I hope you had a nice sub year, and its too bad that you won't be here for the frosh year its really a panic. Anyhow good luck in India. by Mad
